MISSOURI.

ST. LOUIS, DEC 18.

A LETTER of Nov. 20th, from the Council Bluffs, states, the troops were all well. It will be pleasing to those who have friends there, to learn, that there is now a regular communication to this place, and the Missouri cantonment; an express is sent once a month to carry and bring letters from the Post-Office at Cantonment, direct to that office, via St Louis.

SOUTH-CAROLINA.

CHARLESTON, JAN. 8.

Interesting from Havana.

The U. S. schr. Lynx, Lt. Com. Madison, arrived here yesterday, from a cruise in the Gulf of Mexico and on the Coast of Florida, during which she went into Havana. Letters mention that when she put into that port, a very considerable sensation was produced in the public mind, under a belief that her object was to apprise the American merchants of the probability of an immediate war between the United States and Spain, and thereby to enable them to withdraw their property from the island—but the receipt two days afterwards, of the President's Message to Congress, relieved their apprehensions, and its mildness in not recommending an immediate forcible possession of the Floridas, excited much agreeable surprise and rejoicing. Letters from Havana are to the 26th Dec. The holidays had commenced, and business was nearly at a stand. Coffee, it was expected, would maintain the quotation of 22 cents, but sugars were expected to decline—Browns were at 6 1-2 a 87—no Muscovados at market—Rice $6.

There are many Americans perhaps 100, confined in the fortresses and prisons at the Havana, having been captured in Mexico, Floridas and privateers; they suffer much from their treatment. The Captain General has lately visited the prisons, to examine their cases, which gives them some hope of release. The following wrote to Lieut. Madison for relief, relating the circumstances of their capture, viz. John L. Given, of South-Carolina, taken at Amelia Island, Sept. 1817; A. Hosmer, taken 1816; Noah Evans, passenger in sloop Alcyra, in June, 1818. Herbert, from Galveston, having robbed a planter on the Mermento River, of negroes, money, &c. were captured in the Sabine by the crew of the Lynx—8 of the men are now in custody awaiting their trial—one was hung by Lafitte. The L. also captured a small Galveston privateer and her prize, that had been for a length of time smuggling in the Mermento.

South-America.

The latest intelligence from many sources, concerning South America, all tend to convince us that the affairs of the Patriots are in a more prosperous progress than they ever have been; and they ought to assume something which looks like the independence of the provinces. The extract of a letter, which first appeared in the Franklin Gazette, stating that Bolivar was on his march to Carraccas at the head of fifteen thousand men, is probably an exaggeration; other accounts state his force at 5,500, which is more consistent with the most authentic statements we have had heretofore. It is said, indeed, that there were thousands in New-Grenada, ready to join the standard of this Chief, but that he has not muskets to give them. A decisive and final blow to the Spanish army that remains, is looked for.

January 12.

Steam Boat Disaster.

We learn from Captain Michie, of the ship Ruth & Mary, who arrived here yesterday, in 11 days from Havana, that the steam boat Fulton, Capt. Oliver, from Philadelphia, bound to New-Orleans, put into that port in distress on the 5th inst. having burst her boiler and sprung her foremast.—By this accident, the first Engineer was so severely scalded, that he died in four hours after. Capt. Oliver was repairing damages, and expected to be ready for sea in a few days.

Missouri Question.

The Debate on the Missouri question has at length commenced in the Senate of the United States. The discussion has been brought on incidentally to the bill for the admission of Maine into the Union, it having been proposed, by way of amendment, to incorporate in the same bill a provision for the admission of Missouri into the Union, disjointed of the condition by which it has been proposed to exclude Slavery from the State to be erected in that territory. This question absorbs so much attention, that, until it is definitively settled, it may almost be said, no other business will be done in Congress. It was well observed on this head yesterday, by Mr. Macon, that the appearance of the Senate Chamber attested the importance of the question actually depending. Never were the galleries and lobbies more crowded.

NEW-YORK.

NEW-YORK JAN 7.

Governor Tompkins.

The following Resolution has been prepared and adopted in the Legislature of New-York.

"Resolved, That the Comptroller be requested to report to the Senate, whether the accounts between the State and Daniel D Tompkins have been settled according to the act of the last session, entitled, An act for the final settlement of the accounts of the late Governor of this state," if not, then to transmit to the Senate a copy of the claim which has been exhibited to him by the said Daniel D Tompkins for discount or premium on the current money borrowed or obtained by the said Daniel D Tompkins, and expended in the public service during the late war—to state how much thereof the Comptroller has allowed or offered to allow, and how much rejected, and in such case to state the point in difference between him and the said Daniel D Tompkins under the act aforesaid."

Inland Navigation.

It has been ascertained, that there is a water communication, between Lake Michigan and the Illinois river; this is an important discovery, as it establishes the fact, that when the Grand Canal connecting the Lakes with the Hudson, shall be opened, there will then be effected a complete route of internal navigation, or boating, from New York to New-Orleans.

NEWPORT,

Saturday, Jan. 22, 1820.

CONGRESS.

By the Congressional Journal this day, our readers will perceive, that the interesting subject of the restriction of Slavery in Missouri, is now fairly in debate in the Senate of the U. S.—On Friday, the 14th inst. in the Senate it was decided by a vote of 25 to 19, in favor of amending the bill for the admission of Maine into the Union, by the addition of a section, providing for the unconditional admission of Missouri. From this vote it appears, that there is a decided majority in the Senate, opposed to the restriction of Slavery in the new States. The probable result of this question, has not yet been determined by any vote in the House of Representatives.—On the arrival of Mr. King at Washington, all the Senators, 44 in number, will be at their posts.

When the bill for the admission of Maine, was under discussion in the House, Mr. Speaker Clay said, "that he did not mean to give his consent to the admission of Maine into the Union, as long as the doctrines were upheld of annexing conditions to the admission of States into the Union from beyond the mountains."—Mr. Holmes, in reply, observed,—"Do gentlemen calculate on more liberality on the Missouri question, when it comes up, in consequence of the opposition now made to this bill? if they do, they are mistaken: gentlemen in this House are not to be driven from their positions."

SEVERE GALE.

On Monday morning last was experienced here a very severe gale of wind from the S. E. accompanied with snow, hail and rain.—The tide rose to a great height, but fortunately the wind changed in the afternoon to the S. W. which prevented any injury by the tide.—The vessels in our harbour sustained no injury whatever.

At New-York, the gale was very severe, and much loss experienced by the great rise of tide.—Nearly a thousand barrels of naval stores and a considerable quantity of mahogany and other timber, were washed from the wharves and lumber yards at Brooklyn.

In Boston, the tide rose very high, overflowing most of the wharves; a quantity of lime in a store, took fire, but was extinguished with but little loss.

FROM VALPARAISO.

The Ship Gov. Hawkins, Carr, has arrived in Hampton Roads from Valparaiso, having left that place on the 9th of October. The embargo at Valparaiso was raised 6th Sept. and the Chilian fleet under Lord Cochrane sailed the 12th of Sept. with a determination to destroy the Spanish fleet at Lima, being supplied with a large quantity of Congreve Rockets, &c.

Arrival of Sir Thomas Hardy.

By the ship Hyperion, arrived at Philadelphia from Rio Janeiro, which place she left on the 17th of November, information has been received, that the British Squadron under Admiral Hardy, had arrived at Rio, with Mr. Thornton and family, after a passage of 47 days.

Letters from Monte Video, stated a junction between the forces of Artigas and the Chilian government, and that the combined army had proceeded against Buenos Ayres.

The Philadelphia Gazette of the 14th inst. says,—"We understand that the venerable Charles Thompson, is at present seriously indisposed at his residence in Blockley. He entered the 91st year of his age in November last."

EDUCATION.

A Committee has been appointed by the Legislature of Massachusetts, to report on the expediency and practicability of providing a permanent fund for the support of Public Schools;—and a bill is now before the Legislature of Kentucky, appropriating $17,500 annually, to the encouragement of the University and Academy at Lexington.—During the last two years, the literary institutions of New-York have been liberally patronised by the Legislature of that State.

☞ NOTICE.

A SERMON will be delivered on Sunday Evening, Jan. 23d, by the Rev. Mr. ELTON, at his Meeting-House, before the Roger Williams Sunday School Society;—after which, there will be a collection to assist the funds of said Society.

Yellow Stone Expedition.

A very interesting report, relative to the above Expedition, has been made to Congress by the military committee; by which we learn the surprising, though highly satisfactory intelligence, that no entire expedition will have been incurred by, three companies and important movements of troops, and there is even strong hope that the Army will prove to be less extensive than employed, that if it had remained inactive in garrison. This state is one of the most important documents before Congress at their present session. Appended to the report is a return of the army. There are 687 commissioned officers, and 7,357 non-commissioned officers and privates—making in all 8,104. The northern division is estimated at 4,922; the southern at 3,662.

Columbus 74.

This fine ship is to complete her equipments at Norfolk, and will probably be ready for sea in the course of three or four weeks. The officers appointed for her are

Captain, William Bainbridge, Esq.

Master Commandant John H. Elliot.

Lieutenants, (ranking in the order in which they are inserted) William B. Finch, Robert M. Rose, William A. Spencer, James Armstrong, John Gwinn, James L. Morris, French Forrest, William Taylor, George W Isaacs, Henry Ward, George M'Cauley, Peleg K. Dunham, Richard M. Potter, Samuel A Rakin and J M. Whipple, (acting.)

Surgeon, Gerard Dayers—Mate, Benjamin A. Wallace.

Purser, Samuel Hambleton.—Chaplain, David P Adams.

Sailing Master, William T. Malbone.—and thirty-six Midshipmen.

A writer in the "St. Louis Enquirer," (says the Boston Gazette) demonstrates the practicability and advantage of our trading to the East-Indies, by the Columbia and Missouri rivers. Time will work wonders. If our merchants find it to their interest to go this route, they will soon take measures to put it in execution. A respectable house in this town, not long since, received information of the arrival of a valuable ship at Canton, through this medium.

The Legislature of Maryland have adopted a resolution, 60 to 9, requesting their Senators and Representatives in Congress to use their utmost endeavors, in the admission of new States into the Union, to grant to such States all the rights and privileges of the States heretofore admitted, without requiring, as a condition of their admission, the inhibition of involuntary servitude, or any other condition limiting their sovereign powers in a greater degree than the sovereign power of the original states forming the Union are limited and restrained.

An historical painting is exhibiting at Philadelphia, representing the passage over the Delaware by the American troops, in 1776, previous to the capture of the Hessians.

Letters from Porto Bello, dated in Nov. give a terrible account of the situation of the English prisoners whom M'Gregor deserted. They are compelled to labor hard from sunrise to sunset, and are fed with miserable food. In consequence of their treatment, they are perishing daily. Of the original numbers but 55 are alive, one half of whom are in the hospitals.

The Island of Cuba

is 700 miles in length, and 70 in breadth. It has a superficial content of 49,000 square miles, which is equal to the size of England and Wales put together.—It lies in the mouth of the gulf of Mexico, stretching from east to west. A range of mountains runs through it in the same direction. Although situated within the tropics, the breeze from the sea and the height of the mountains give it a healthy climate, and make it a very delightful residence. The population of the island is 350,000 souls. Its chief production is coffee, of which it could raise an immense supply, but the indolent Spaniards have not put the hundredth acre under cultivation. The port of Havana is one of the finest in the world, capable of containing a thousand ships at once, and so narrow at the entrance, that not more than one can enter at a time. The city contains a population of 35,000 souls.

Novel Enterprize.

Ice trade.—A merchant in Boston has the exclusive privilege of supplying certain West-India Islands with ice; but his stock falling short, he sent a vessel to the coast of Labrador in August last! After fastening to several icebergs, and encountering many perils, he got a full cargo, and sailed for Marblehead. The brig was in one instance frozen six feet by the rolling of an iceberg! The enterprize was successful, and the brig has returned to Boston.

By a census lately taken, it appears that the population of the City of New-York is 119,457. In the year 1731, an census was taken by order of Cadwallader, then President of the Province of New-York, the population was 8,622.

The Tarrant Murder.

In a letter from [illegible] to the Editor of the Boston Gazette, [illegible] published in the Rochester Gazette, [illegible] the person who [illegible] Colvin's murder, [illegible] "[illegible] Colvin, [illegible] to be detained with Colvin [illegible] and requested him to go with him; that he arose from his bed, and followed him into a field to a place where there were two men, one of whom he was told was to die; that he was then ordered to take a knife and assassinate the man; that he did so, and found a piece of a shirt—he then had him to follow to a particular place in a river which was near, and then had him throw it into the deep hole, as called. He passed a little sapling, which he marked with his knife.—He arrived in great agitation, and at length fell asleep, when the scene again passed and as a third time—When he left his bed, and made no more attempts to sleep. He did not recollect to have been in that field for ten years. The sapling was afterwards found marked with three marks."

Although it certainly appears that there are indications of some person having been murdered near the residence of the Beerns, it is proper to state, that nothing of the dream was attempted to be offered in evidence at the trial, nor was it, as we can learn, at all brought into view by the Court.

"On Colvin's return to Manchester, after an absence of more than seven years, hundreds of his former neighbors flocked to see him as one risen from the dead; and some would not believe till they had felt him. His mental derangement has increased to such a degree, that he can give no account of himself after he left home, and yet he recollects many things that transpired before his departure with minute accuracy. He disappeared in May, 1812 and first appeared in Dover (N. J.) in March, 1813. Where he was in the interim is unknown."

Married,

Died,

Near New-York, on the 10th inst. Mr. Isaac Hicks, formerly one of the most respectable merchants in that city.

At Stratsburgh, (N. Y.) on the 20th ult. Major John Paulding, aged 87 years. He was a distinguished soldier of the Revolution, and was one of the captors of Major Andre.

At Hebron, (Ct.) on the 6th inst. Mrs Peggy Dow, wife of Rev Lorenzo Dow, long distinguished for his earnest devotedness to the best of causes.

At Middletown, on the 13th inst Mrs Ruth Wyatt, in the 24th year of her age, wife of Mr. David Wyatt.

SLAVERY.

"'Tis Liberty, alone, which gives the free
"Of Mind, Life, the love and enjoyment,
"And we cannot [illegible]

SHALL free-born Man become a slave,
His noblest faculties to engage?
For better slumber in the grave,
Than thus degrade his race divine.

Forbid it Heav'n!—Columbia's soil,
Bright Independence proud abode,
Should be the scene of servile toil,
Where Afric's children bear the goad.

Enough,—too long has vengeance slept,
Tempt not the thunder-bolt of ire,
Enough have human feelings wept,
Pride, which has wak'd such guilty fire.

Nature her rights on all confers,
With liberal, just and equal hand,
Then sure that lordly creature errs,
Who arrogates supreme command.

THE SNOW-BIRD.

WHAT little Visitant is there,
That caroleth hope from spray to spray?
Enamour'd of the Winter air,
Clad in his feather's suit of grey.

Yes! the hoarse tempest piping loud,
Is music, melody, delight,
To him, who dreads no angry cloud,
Or wilderness of fleecy white.

Spring, Summer, Autumn, never charm
His ice-cold dull and flinty breast,
Nor Nature's hardships can alarm,
His feelings, nor disturb his rest.

The lot necessity ordains,
He bears with philosophic pride,
Converts to pleasure all his pains,
Serene tranquillity his guide.

COMPASSION.

WHERE dwells, in what celestial sphere,
To whom Compassion's smile is dear,
That spirit, whose kind tender pow'r,
With loving mercy rules each hour?

Save not in man's corrupted breast,
Can Sympathy divinely rest,
From guilt, from earthly scenes she flies
And seeks a seat beyond the skies.

'Tis self, 'tis int'rest reigns below,
The wretched feel, the wretched know,
And heav'nly joys alone impart,
What seldom sometimes is Woman's heart.
